

TULISAN 4

PERSAMAAN DAN PERBEZAAN <sup>M</sup> / PERSAMAAN DAN PERBEDAAN <sup>I</sup> Comparison and Contrast

When we compare or contrast items, we make statements of similarity or difference. These statements, as with statements of classification, may be based on the way things function, the way they look, their use, where they are found, etc. It is important to remember that when you compare and contrast, you make parallel statements; that is, you make similar statements about the items under discussion. You compare colours with colours, size with size, the policies of one government leader with the policies of another. You don't compare sizes with colours, or locations with use, or policies with personal beliefs.
