

TULISAN 8

DEFINISI Definition

When we define particular items, we explain them in terms of their general components of meaning. There are a number of ways of doing this. We can explain them by looking at their form or shape, their general characteristics or inherent properties, their function or use, their position, status or state, etc.

We can present this information in a number of different ways: by direct statement, by comparison and contrast with items in a similar class, or by example. The exercises which follow ask you to do a number of these things.
